“Super Tuscan”

The term describes any Tuscan red wine that does not adhere to traditional blending laws for the region.

In the 1970s Piero Antinori decided to make a richer wine by eliminating the white grapes from the Chianti blend and instead adding Bordeaux varietals (namely, cabernet and merlot). He was inspired by a little-known (at the time) cabernet sauvignon made by a relative called Sassicaia.

The result was the first Super Tuscan, which he named Tignanello. These are some of Italy’s most highly prized and sought after wines.

Amarone

Amarone di Valpolicella is a full bodied red wine typically comprised of the Corvina, Rondinella and Molinara grape varieties. The arduous labor process involved in making the wine includes the drying out of the handpicked grapes for sometimes as long as 150 days before being pressed, fermented and aged in French barriques.

Barolo

"The Wine of Kings... The King of Wines"

This sentiment came about when the nobles of Turin
(the capital city of the Piemonte region in Italy) came to favor this wine.

Made from the Nebbiolo grape varietal,
Barolo wines offer a beautiful compliment to Italian fare.
Their higher tannin levels allow for great aging as well.
